Ignite the night with a sensory explosion

Veiled with blindfolds, guests of DARK MEAET will indulge in flavourful food and tantalizing tales. The media is invited to the latest craze in food gratification: dining in the dark.

DARK MEAET, a sold-out event hosted by NextGen Edmonton, is a unique event that follows the lead of culinary hot spots like Toronto and Montreal. Dining on a three-course meal, guests' ears will hum with a variety of auditory experiences.

- To begin, creative individuals will share their concepts for a local idea or project that they envision for Edmonton. The presenter with the best idea (as deemed by a vote) will receive funding from the evening's proceeds to implement their plan.
- Then, award-winning storytellers from Edmonton's Story Slam group will take guests on an imaginative journey.

Opening remarks will be made by a speaker with the Canadian Institute for the Blind.
