City of Edmonton

Talk the talk and walk the walk...

Learn more about the beautiful city we call home by joining other Edmontonians on a Jane's Walk. Jane's Walk is an annual event held in the first weekend of May in cities across the globe that brings people together to build strong, vibrant and connected communities.

Tours are led by volunteers and focus on aspects of urban living such as art, history and urban design. Some of the Jane's Walks in Edmonton are titled The Intrigue of Inglewood, Mysteries of Edmonton's Underground, Discovering the Pedway and Politics of Oliver.

Take part in the kickoff event on May 2 Jane's Walk with a number of walks starting from City Hall.

Date: Friday, May 2, 2014

Time: Noon

Location: City Hall

Other Jane's Walks will be happening over the weekend at locations across the city. All of these walks are free to the public. If you would like to find out more about Jane's Walk or are interested in leading your own walk, go to janeswalk.org.

This year, Jane's Walk in Edmonton is being coordinated by a local organizing committee made up of community volunteers and staff from the City of Edmonton's Walkable Edmonton initiative.

Jane's Walk was created in 2007 in Toronto by the friends of urban thinker, Jane Jacobs, and has become an annual series of free, volunteer-led urban walks that has grown from 27 to over 500 walks worldwide.
