City of Edmonton

New summer project highlights great outdoors @yegparks

Local parks are getting a new voice this summer thanks to a new social media project. City of Edmonton Parks on Facebook and @yegparks on Twitter launch today and will run throughout the summer with the aim of highlighting our beautiful outdoor spaces.

The accounts are managed by Alison Mould, Community Recreation Coordinator with the City's Neighbourhood, Parks and Community Recreation branch. Alison brings with her extensive knowledge about the fantastic parks and natural spaces the City maintains for residents and visitors.

"We Edmontonians love our outdoor spaces throughout the year, but summer holds a special place in our hearts," says Alison. "I'm thrilled to be spending the summer exploring and featuring the best of what our natural spaces have to offer."

The pages will feature parks, playgrounds, community gardens, and other natural areas this summer, while also highlighting special community programs and events for residents and visitors to check out.
