City releases proposed Drainage and Waste Utilities budgets

The proposed 2015 budgets for the City of Edmonton's two utilities - Drainage Services and Waste Management Services - are posted online at edmonton.ca/budget2015. They are released in advance of Administration's presentation to City Council's Utilities Committee on October 30.

The City's Chief Financial Officer, Loma Rosen, will be available to answer any questions the media may have about the 2015 Utilities Budget:

Date: Friday, October 24, 2014

Time: 2 p.m.

Location: Media Room, City Hall

The 2015 Utilities Budget deals with the operating and infrastructure costs for the two utilities. Waste and Drainage utilities are not subsidized by property taxes. Instead, they are funded entirely through rates and fees charged to residential and commercial users. The proposed rate changes are included in the budget documents.
