Feel the holiday warmth at the Muttart Conservatory

The Muttart Conservatory is adding warmth and colour to winter with two special December events. Guests will feel a Holiday Glow at the Conservatory's last evening concert of the year, Thursday, December 18. Christine Hanson, Jamie Philp and carolers will perform seasonal favourites. Culina Muttart invites guests to make it a date night by booking a festive dinner before the show.

Then, Edmontonians can ring in the New Year on family time. At the Muttart Conservatory's New Year's Eve Masquerade, 2015 will be welcomed once an hour so that children of all ages can participate in an early countdown. Everyone is encouraged to join the masquerade in costume and take part in crafts and games.

Everyone who visits the Muttart Conservatory will be able to meet Fleur de Neige, a life-sized topiary polar bear who stars in the holiday feature pyramid, A Polar Christmas. Guests can enter to win a trip to see real polar bears on the shores of Hudson's Bay, courtesy of Coca Cola and Classic Canadian Tours.

Pink, red, white and glitter poinsettias are on sale in the Conservatory gift shop while supplies last.

A Polar Christmas and the Polar Bear Safari contest close January 5, 2015. The feature show is sponsored by Coldwell Banker Venture Realty.
