Mayor takes a lichen to moss art!

Media are invited to join Mayor Don Iveson as he checks out moss-covered art installations and proclaims June 3, 2015 as Clean Air Day in Edmonton.

Date: Wednesday, June 3, 2015
Time: 10 a.m.
Location: City Hall/Churchill Square
on the south side of the pool

Three moss art installations - two bikes and one bus stop - are currently displayed downtown to celebrate Clean Air Day. Moss was chosen because of its ability to absorb air pollution and its positive impact on air quality. There will be an opportunity for photos, as Mayor Iveson will read the proclamation beside the moss-covered bus stop and moss-covered bike.

Clean Air Day is recognized annually as part of Environment Week. This year the City has taken a more creative approach to the Clean Air Day awareness campaign and how Edmontonians can do their part.

In honour of Clean Air Day, the High Level Bridge will glow blue on June 3.
