Step back in time at John Walter Museum

It's been 100 years since the Great Flood of Edmonton left much of the river valley under water. John Walter Museum wants you to help commemorate the anniversary with a fun afternoon of crafts, games, live music and historical activities.

Date: Sunday, June 28, 2015
Time: 1 – 4 p.m.
Location: John Walter Museum, 9180 Walterdale Hill
Admission: Free

Step back in time with us to experience a historical journey through vignettes of time periods around the flood, including the aftermath and its river valley legacy. Enjoy live music by John Spear, make a raft craft in the 1875 house, play some games and enjoy homemade cookies and lemonade. We're hosting walking tours along the river, where you'll learn more about the devastation of 1915 and how it shaped the river valley we know today.
