

Get Inspired by Creative Public Transit Ideas from Around the Globe

The City invites Edmontonians to an evening with Taras Grescoe, award-winning author of Straphanger. He will share inspiring stories about creative public transit ideas from around the globe. He is in Edmonton for only one evening.

Grescoe's free public talk is part of the launch of the City of Edmonton's Transit Strategy project - What Moves You? This initiative encourages Edmontonians to help shape a Transit Strategy for the future.

This Let's Talk Transit presentation is first in the City's Great Ideas. Great City speaker series, which explores inspiring ideas to help shape a great city.

Date: Monday, September 28, 2015
Time: Doors open at 5:30 pm (Event runs 6:00 pm-7:30 p.m.)
Location: Art Gallery of Alberta, Ledcor Auditorium, 2 Sir Winston Churchill Square
Cost: Free (no tickets required). Limited seating.

Grescoe will present some of the most interesting transportation alternatives he's encountered and he will discuss how those ideas might be applied to Edmonton. Following the talk, there will be a Q&A session and a book signing.
