

Let It Snow, Let It Snow at the Muttart Conservatory

This holiday season, every day is a snow day at the Muttart Conservatory. The Snowflakes Are Falling feature pyramid display paints the beauty of Canadian winterscapes from a palette of poinsettias and glittering snowflakes. The conservatory's famously beautiful poinsettias frame whimsical winter scenes. Winter Rose poinsettias are a special addition, with red and crème leaves that curl into roselike blooms.

Sunday, December 13, families are invited to stroll through this winter wonderland and participate in wintry activities.
