

Metro Line service changes: Feb. 21 and 28

For the next two Sundays (Feb. 21 and 28), Metro Line service will be suspended as planned work is carried out. This is part of ongoing efforts to bring the Metro Line to full operation as soon as possible. The timeline for next steps will depend on the test results.

Service on the Metro Line will be suspended from start of service until no later than 11 a.m. on February 21 and 28. Capital Line trains will run as scheduled.

Service suspensions are the best way to get the work done as safely and quickly as possible.

LRT replacement bus service will be in place between Downtown and the Metro Line stations, running every 15 minutes between Churchill and NAIT via Metro Line stations. More information on bus replacement service is available here

Regular Sunday bus service will be available on Route 15 between NAIT and Downtown while Routes 8 and 9 are options for service between Downtown and the Kingsway area.
