

Walking the walk: City hosts Walkability Symposium

April 15, 2016

Edmontonians passionate about our city are invited to participate in a day long symposium focused on walkability. The symposium will be led by Jeff Speck, author of Walkable City: How Downtown Can Save America One Step at a Time. Jeff Speck is one of the world's leading thinkers on smart growth and urban design. Join him and other presenters for a one-day event that will provide practical and inspiring steps to help build a more people-friendly, multi-modal city.

The night before the symposium, the City of Edmonton is hosting a public presentation by Jeff Speck on why walkable downtowns are important. All citizens are invited to this free event. Both the symposium and the public presentation are presented by the City of Edmonton, Alberta Professional Planners Institute (APPI) and the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE).
