

ETS seeks input to LRT Park and Ride changes

Online survey launches Monday, May 2

May 2, 2016

Edmonton Transit System (ETS) is seeking feedback from both riders and non-riders about upcoming changes to LRT Park and Ride lots.

Based on recommendations from an independent transit advisory board, ETS is exploring potential LRT Park and Ride changes, including:

- Converting free Park and Ride stalls to paid reserved stalls.
- Increasing the price to park in reserved Park and Ride stalls.
- Determining time-limits and/or charge fees for unreserved stalls.

ETS is asking Edmontonians to share their thoughts through a short online survey, which is available from takeETS.com. Edmonton Transit System will take this feedback into consideration when deciding on changes to Park and Ride lots.

The Park and Ride lots at Clareview, Belvedere, Stadium, and Century Park stations would be affected by any changes which are scheduled to take effect in September.
