

Help build the future of Edmonton's Green Network

May 19, 2016

The City of Edmonton is seeking your input on the future of Edmonton's Green Network. BREATHE: Edmonton's Green Network Strategy is a transformative strategy to make sure that as the city grows, each neighbourhood will be supported by a network of open space for the next 30 years.

The City is hosting 5 interactive drop-in sessions to gather input on the future of Edmonton's Green Network.

You can also help by completing two online surveys. Information gathered will be compiled and used to inform the strategy.

The City's green network is the system of outdoor land and water that is publicly owned and/or publicly accessible, such as parks, plazas, trails, main streets, the River Valley and ravines. The network provides places where people go to play, relax, celebrate, explore and connect with each other and nature. The network also provides important wildlife habitat and ecological services.

BREATHE: Edmonton's Green Network Strategy will examine how open spaces in the City of Edmonton work together to provide real benefits to citizens and bring a strategic, innovative and transformative approach to open space planning and design.
