

Growing a Legacy: Muttart Conservatory Celebrates 40 Years

August 30, 2016

This September, the Muttart Conservatory is celebrating 40 years as one of Canada's most vibrant indoor botanical gardens.

Over four decades ago, the Muttart Foundation planted the seed for a living botanical museum in Edmonton. In 1976, that vision became the Muttart Conservatory.

Today, the conservatory is flourishing and taking a look back at some of the most crowd-pleasing feature pyramid displays in the facility's history. Elements from favourite shows will make up the Growing a Legacy feature pyramid display.

On September 10, everyone is encouraged to put on their best 1970s outfits for the Growing a Legacy disco party, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Conservatory.

Date: Saturday, September 10, 2016
Time: 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.
Location: Muttart Conservatory, 9626 96A Avenue
Cost: Included with regular admission

Guests will get down to disco and learn to make macramé plant holders as they revisit Muttart Conservatory memories. Special displays and images will illustrate the Conservatory's past.

The Growing a Legacy feature pyramid display will run from September 3 to October 2. Growing a Legacy is presented by the City of Edmonton and Direct Energy.
