

Celebrate World Town Planning Day

November 1, 2016

The City of Edmonton is hosting a free movie viewing for World Town Planning Day. Participants will enjoy a screening of Everything Will Be by Sundance award-winning director Julia Kwan. The movie explores the transformation of Vancouver's once thriving Chinatown from the perspective of the community's oldest and newest members. The movie will be followed by a reception where City of Edmonton planners and members from the Alberta Professional Planners Institute will explore Edmonton's own transformation.

Date: Wednesday, November 9, 2016
Time: 5 p.m. - 8:30 p.m.
Location: Metro Cinema, 8712 109 Street, Edmonton
Cost: Free. Available on Eventbrite

World Town Planning Day is an international event to advance public and professional interest in planning. It recognizes the valuable contributions that sound planning has made, and can make, to the quality of the human environment.
