

City gathers ideas for future of Coliseum

November 15, 2016

The City of Edmonton is considering options for the future of the Coliseum at Northlands. Edmontonians are invited to share their ideas at one of two upcoming open houses.

Date: Wednesday, November 16 and Thursday, November 17

Time: 3 - 8 p.m.

Location: Multipurpose room 6, Commonwealth Recreation Centre (11000 Stadium Rd)

Northlands has suggested a six-sheet ice arena. The City is seeking public input to help develop additional options for transforming the Coliseum into a sport and recreation facility. Organizations interested in partnering with the City to operate, invest capital, or provide programming and services at a repurposed Coliseum may submit a request for expression of interest by December 9. Details and applications are available online.

Unable to make it to one of our open houses? There will also be a public survey available online from November 16 to December 1.
