Learn to build a rain garden

March 30, 2017

Rain gardens are landscaped areas you can build in your yard to collect and absorb stormwater runoff. They're not only beautiful, they help the environment as well by filtering the runoff before it enters the stormwater system.

If you're interested in learning more about how to build a rain garden on your property, sign up for one of six workshops being offered by the City of Edmonton.

Date: Saturday, April 8 or Saturday, April 22, 2017

Time: 8:30 or 11 a.m. or 1:30 p.m.

Location: Alfred H. Savage Centre, 13204 Fox Dr. NW
