Calling all foodies!

April 7, 2017

Want to dig into Edmonton's Food scene? The Edmonton Food Council is recruiting new members to be part of the dynamic team helping shape the future of food and agriculture in Edmonton. We are looking for individuals with previous experience on boards or volunteer committees who can demonstrate passion, expertise and experience in relation to food systems work.

The Edmonton Food Council was created as a committee of administration in 2013, with a mandate to advise and act on the implementation of fresh: Edmonton's Food and Urban Agriculture Strategy. The Food Council is made up of 15 citizen volunteers who are actively involved in food systems work. The Edmonton Food Council engages with community on relevant and timely issues related to food and urban agriculture. Last year, the Council supported two major community events; hosting Let's Talk Food - A Mayor's Panel and co-hosting a World Food Day event with the Edmonton Food Bank.

Real champions of Edmonton food system, Food Council members have played a key role in advancing community discussions on food security, community gardens, urban agriculture, urban beekeeping and urban hen keeping, and more! Want to be a part of Edmonton's food future too?
