WHAT WE HEARD REPORT
Westbrook Estates Rezoning (LDA18-0244)

PROJECT ADDRESS: 3500 – 119 Street NW and 100-128 Ironwood Place NW

PROJECT DESCRIPTION:
● The City of Edmonton has received an application to rezone the Derrick Golf and Winter Club from (A) Metropolitan Recreation Zone and (DC2) Site Specific Development Control Provision to a new DC2 that would allow for an indoor tennis facility and additional commercial and recreational uses that the applicant regards as compatible with the facility's current services and future opportunities.
● An administrative rezoning is also proposed for properties located at 100-128 Ironwood Place NW to adjust the boundary by removing the Derrick Golf and Winter Club property (3500 - 119 Street NW) from the existing DC2 Zone and correct outdated text and references. No changes are proposed to the development regulations of Ironwood Place.

WHAT WE HEARD
The most common concerns heard were:

- Rezoning of Ironwood Place:
  - Why is Ironwood Place being rezoned?
  - Ironwood Place should be involved in the creation of the new zone impacting its property.

- Location of proposed indoor tennis facility:
  - The impact of the proximity of the indoor tennis facility to residents of Ironwood. “No one wants to look out their back door into a wall.”

- Restrictive Covenant:
  - The zoning should align with the restrictive covenant. The height for Area B should be reduced to 7 m and the building setbacks should be a minimum of 7.5 m.
  - What will happen to the restrictive covenant if the zoning is approved?
  - Why doesn’t the proposed zone align with the restrictive covenant?

Comments of support included:
- An indoor tennis facility will meet a need for many residents in the City, not only in this neighbourhood.
- I support the expansion of the Club.
- The Derrick has listened to the residents of Ironwood and the new proposed location of the indoor tennis location is much better.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Why is Ironwood Place being rezoned?
Development of Ironwood Place and a portion of the Derrick Golf and Winter Club is regulated by a Direct Control Zone (DC2.146) that was adopted in 1988. The Derrick Golf and Winter Club has applied to rezone their land, including the portion that is covered under DC2.146, to create a unified zoning for their property. To change the boundary of DC2.146, new DC2 Zones are required – one for the Derrick Golf and Winter Club and one for Ironwood Place.

How will the proposed new DC2 Zone for Ironwood Place impact my property?
The proposed new DC2 Zone for Ironwood Place maintains the development rights of the existing DC2.146 Zone and includes the following changes:

1. Outdated terms and references will be removed and replaced to ensure the proposed zone is consistent with the current Zoning Bylaw.
2. The boundary of the Zone will be changed to remove the property owned by the Derrick Golf and Winter Club.

Where will the indoor tennis facility be located?

The proposed DC2 zone for the Derrick Golf and Winter Club is split into Area A and Area B. Area A allows a maximum height of 18 m and a variety of commercial and recreational uses. The indoor tennis facility would be restricted to Area A. Area B is located adjacent to Ironwood Place and proposes a maximum height of 10 m, a minimum building setback of 3 m and would only allow Outdoor Participant Recreation Services uses (e.g., outdoor skating rink, golf course, soccer fields, outdoor tennis courts, etc.). Surface parking could also be located in Area B.

How big is Area B? What is the distance between Ironwood Place and Area A?

Area B varies from 40 m to 50 m in length. The proposed indoor tennis facility could not be located within Area B and would need to be at least 40 – 50 m away from Ironwood Place.

What is the relationship between Zoning and Restrictive Covenants?

Restrictive Covenants are private agreements between landowners. Zoning is part of the process by which the City of Edmonton governs and regulates the use of land within the city. This authority is delegated from the Province of Alberta to the City of Edmonton through the Municipal Government Act (MGA).

The City of Edmonton is not party to the restrictive covenant between Ironwood Place and the Derrick Golf and Winter Club and the proposed Zoning is not required to align with the restrictive covenant. If one party develops something that fits within the regulations of the Zone, but contravenes the restrictive covenant, then it is the responsibility of the two parties (landowners) to enforce the private agreement and/or resolve the dispute.
What will happen to the Restrictive Covenant if the Zoning is approved?

The proposed zoning will not affect the restrictive covenant. The restrictive covenant will remain as a registered instrument on the Certificate of Title and can only be removed if both parties of the agreement agree.
